CHIEF GUEST MESSAGE

Zahir Uddin Swapon, MP

Adviser (Minister) to the Prime Minister
Govt. of the People's Republic of Bangladesh
Prime Minister's Office

The inauguration of the 14th Executive Committee of the Soviet Alumni Association of Bangladesh (SAAB), together with the publication of its commemorative souvenir, Shoronika, marks a significant milestone in the Association's long-standing journey of service, professional excellence, and fellowship.

The Soviet Alumni Association of Bangladesh holds a unique and respected place in the socio-cultural, academic, and professional landscape of our nation. For decades, Bangladeshi graduates who pursued higher education in the former Soviet Union and, subsequently, in the countries of the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS), have made significant contributions to the development of Bangladesh across diverse fields, including engineering, medicine, education, agriculture, science, public administration, and industry.

Their knowledge, expertise, dedication, and leadership have not only contributed to our nation's progress but have also strengthened the enduring bonds of friendship and cooperation between the People's Republic of Bangladesh, the Russian Federation, and the CIS countries.

The vision of the Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP)-led Government is to build a self-reliant, democratic, prosperous, and welfare-oriented Bangladesh founded on the principles of economic democratization, social justice, and Bangladeshi nationalism. I am confident that the highly qualified and experienced alumni of SAAB will continue to make meaningful contributions to nation-building and play a constructive role in advancing this vision.

As the 14th Executive Committee assumes its responsibilities, I am confident that, under its able leadership, SAAB will continue to uphold its proud legacy, strengthen unity and fellowship among its members, and undertake meaningful initiatives for the social, cultural, and economic development of Bangladesh.

I extend my heartfelt congratulations to the newly elected Executive Committee and commend the Publication Committee for its dedicated efforts in bringing this commemorative publication to fruition.

On this auspicious occasion, I convey my sincere wishes for continued success, prosperity, and greater achievements for SAAB in all its future endeavours.

Long Live Bangladesh.

Mr. Zahir Uddin Swapon, MP

SPECIAL GUEST MESSAGE

H.E. Mr. Alexander Grigoryevich KHOZIN

Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary
Embassy of the Russian Federation in the People's Republic of Bangladesh

It gives me immense pleasure to extend my heartiest congratulations to the newly elected leadership and Executive Committee of the Soviet and Russian Alumni Association of Bangladesh (SAAB).

The friendship between Russia and Bangladesh is built on a foundation of mutual respect, solidarity, and unwavering support. Following the historic emergence of Bangladesh as an independent nation, the Soviet Union was among the first to extend a hand of genuine partnership. Recognizing that the future of a young nation lies in the potential of its youth, our country provided talented Bangladeshi students with the opportunity to pursue higher education in Soviet universities.

It is inspiring to recall that as early as 1972, the first cohort of Bangladeshi students departed for the Soviet Union. Upon completing their studies, these bright young men and women returned to their homeland as highly skilled engineers, doctors, scientists, diplomats, and cultural figures. Over the decades, generations of Soviet and Russian graduates have made invaluable contributions to the socio-economic, industrial, and scientific development of Bangladesh.

Today, our alumni serve as a unique and living bridge of friendship between Moscow and Dhaka. You not only carry forward the knowledge and professional excellence acquired at our universities, but you also remain true custodians of the warm cultural and human connection between our two nations.

I am confident that under the stewardship of the new Executive Committee, SAAB will continue to thrive, strengthening alumni networks, inspiring future generations of students pursuing education in Russia, and fostering deeper bilateral relations across various fields.

The Embassy of the Russian Federation in Bangladesh remains fully committed to supporting the Association in its noble initiatives and creative endeavors.

I wish the newly elected leadership and all members of SAAB good health, continued inspiration, and every success in your future endeavors.

Mr. Alexander Grigoryevich KHOZIN

GUEST OF HONOUR MESSAGE

Dr. Shahdeen Malik
Eminent Jurist and Constitutional
Expert Legal Activist and Founding
Convenor of SAAB

It gives me immense pride and joy to extend my warm greetings to all members, distinguished guests, and alumni on the momentous occasion of the 44th Anniversary and 14th Inauguration Ceremony of the Soviet Alumni Association of Bangladesh (SAAB).

As the Founding Convenor of SAAB, watching this association grow and flourish over the past four decades fills me with profound satisfaction. SAAB was built on the values of camaraderie, shared academic pursuit, and a collective commitment to serving our nation. The education, intellectual rigor, and cross-cultural perspectives we gained during our formative years in the former Soviet Union have not only shaped our professional careers but have also fostered a lifelong bond that continues to unite us.

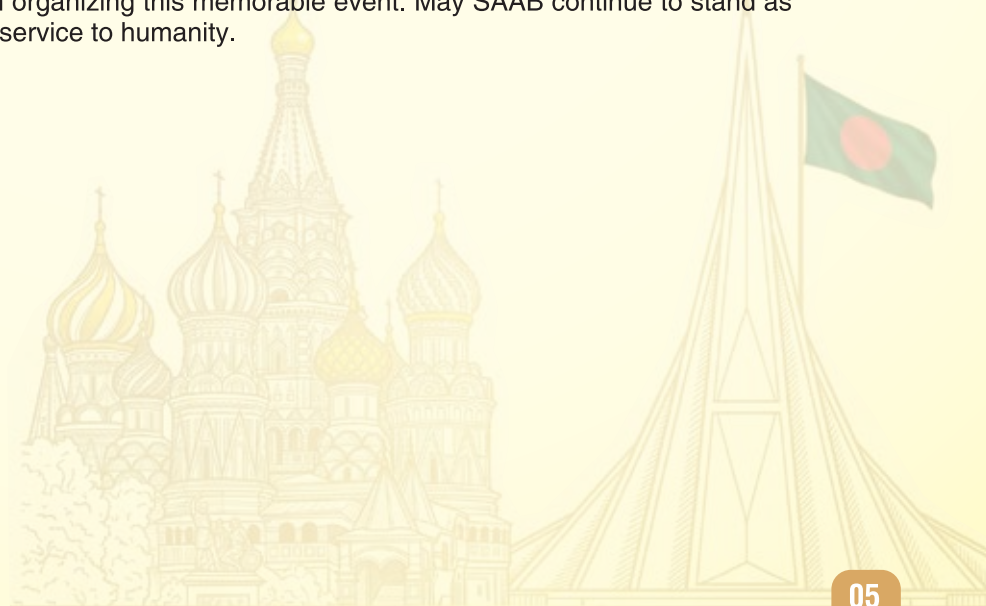

Throughout its journey, SAAB has remained a strong bridge of friendship, knowledge, and cultural exchange between Bangladesh, Russia, and the CIS nations. Beyond keeping our cherished memories alive, our alumni community has consistently contributed to legal, educational, technical, and socio-economic progress across the country.

As we inaugurate the 14th Executive Committee, I am confident that the new leadership will carry forward this legacy with renewed energy. I encourage SAAB to continue engaging our senior Vipuskniki, inspiring the younger generation of scholars, and strengthening our professional network both at home and abroad.

I offer my heartiest congratulations to the newly elected Executive Committee, the Souvenir Editorial Team, and everyone involved in organizing this memorable event. May SAAB continue to stand as a beacon of unity, wisdom, and service to humanity.

Warmest regards,

Dr. Shahdeen Malik

Soviet Alumni Association, Bangladesh (SAAB)

Soviet Alumni Association Bangladesh: A Journey Through Time

Engr. Md Abdus Sobhan, PFU, 1972

Bangladesh achieved independence from Pakistan through a bloody nine-month-long Liberation War of 1971, with independence declared on 26 of March 1971 and victory achieved on 16 December 1971. The Soviet Union (USSR) played a decisive diplomatic and military role in Bangladesh Liberation War. The USSR used its veto power three times in the UN Security Council to block premature ceasefire resolutions pushed by USA and China. When the USA sent the nuclear-armed task force USS Enterprise into the Bay of Bengal, the Soviet Navy dispatched nuclear-armed ships and a submarine from Vladivostok to track and counter the US fleet. The USSR officially recognized the independent People's Republic of Bangladesh on January 25, 1972.

The 1972 cultural and scientific cooperation agreement between the USSR and Bangladesh was signed during Prime Minister Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman's Historic visit to Moscow from March 1-5, 1972. The agreement laid the foundation for long-term bilateral exchanges in education, science, arts, and culture.

The Soviet government offered higher education scholarships to Bangladeshi students in 1972. The very first batch of pioneering scholarship recipients arrived in the USSR on August 7, 1972. During the early years (1972-1975), around 200 to 250 students traveled to the Soviet Union annually, studying in different fields. However, the flow of students changed after the political upheaval of 1975. Scholarship opportunities declined, and educational relations were subsequently affected by changes in Bangladesh's political orientation. The collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991 brought another major transformation. Nevertheless, educational links with Russia continued, and Bangladesh students continued to receive scholarship for higher education.

For many young Bangladeshis, studying in the former Soviet Union and Russia was not simply an opportunity to obtain a university degree. They were educated at the time when Bangladesh desperately needed skilled professionals to rebuild a war-ravaged country. The educational system placed considerable emphasis on technical education, scientific research and professional training. Consequently, the graduates returned with knowledge and skills that were valuable to Bangladesh's emerging institutions.

From 1978 onwards, Bangladeshi students began returning home after obtaining degrees and

Department of Environment,
Government of Bangladesh

undergoing training in various fields. This was an extremely challenging period for them; against the backdrop of global politics, the political and social landscape of Bangladesh at the time was marked by negative, anti-Soviet propaganda. During this period, they had to navigate various obstacles and adversities across different sectors, including government service. Neither malicious propaganda nor hostility could prevent our specialists from establishing themselves in their respective workplaces and professions. Today, the vast majority of Soviet and Russian specialists are well - established, thanks to their merit and competence. However, disparities regarding the recognition of their degrees persist, often acting as a barrier to their professional success.

The return of Bangladeshi graduates from the Soviet Union was an important chapter in the reconstruction of Bangladesh after 1971. Their contributions in education, medicine, engineering, agriculture, science, economics, law, business and industry, culture and public service helped create a generation of professionals whose influence went well beyond the institution in which they first began their careers.

Upon returning to Bangladesh, Soviet graduates face various challenges. In this situation they felt the need for an organization that could maintain their professional and social connections. An ad-hoc committee was formed in 1980 with Dr. Shahdeen Malik as the convener. Dr. Nizamuddin Al-Hussainy and Engr. G. M. Jainal Abedin Bhuiyan are among the committee members.

It was not been possible to mention the others as their names are not known. Subsequently, the number of graduates returning to the country increased significantly, creating the conditions necessary to form a full- edged association. The 'Association of Former Students Returned from the Soviet Union' began its journey on 7 August 1982, exactly ten years after the first group of students left for the Soviet Union, by forming an executive committee on an ad-hoc basis headed by Prof. Dr. Kazi Saleh Ahmeed, with the aim of maintaining and further nurturing the friendships forged during the emotionally significant days of life abroad, as well as safeguarding professional interests. Among those who played a particularly proactive role in establishing the association are Dr. Shahdeen Malik, Engr. Shoeb Ali Sikder, Dr. Tajul Islam, Dr. Nazrul Islam, Hasan Taufiq Chowdhury, Engr. Taqsem A. Khan.

As the scope and extent of the association's activities continued to expand, the need arose to formulate a constitution to ensure the smooth implementation of its operations. A draft constitution, prepared by a sub-committee led by Dr. Nazrul Islam, was adopted at the association's general meeting in 1985 and the association was renamed 'Soviet Alumni Association, Bangladesh' (SAAB). At that meeting, an executive was elected for a two-year term based on the constitution. The President and General Secretary elected were, respectively Prof. Dr. Kazi Saleh Ahmeed and Engr. Shoeb Ali Sikder.

SAAB is a non-political voluntary organization focused on alumni solidarity, supporting education and social welfare, and contributing to Bangladesh's development. The story of SAAB is not simply the story of an alumni organization. It is also the story of thousands of Bangladeshi professionals who returned home with knowledge, skill and a commitment to serve their country. Alumni in their respective fields have helped transform knowledge acquired abroad into service for Bangladesh. Our Journey has not been limited to professional achievement. In times of need, SAAB alumni have stood beside fellow citizens through humanitarian assistance, medical services and social welfare initiatives. These activities reflect the spirit of solidarity and service that lies at the heart of our association.

SAAB has brought together thousands of Bangladeshi graduates educated in the former Soviet Union and Russia, creating a professional and social network that has continued for about five decades. The association has helped preserve and strengthen the legacy of Bangladesh-Soviet/Russian educational cooperation and continues to promote educational and scientific links between the two countries. Over the decades, alumni have occupied in unctional positions across Bangladesh's public and private sectors. Its greatest achievement has been the contribution of its members to Bangladesh's development in education, engineering, medicine, science, law, research, public administration, business and culture. At the same time, SAAB has served as a bridge of friendship, knowledge and cultural understanding between Bangladesh and former Soviet Union/ Russia, preserving the historic legacy of educational cooperation while promoting social welfare, professional solidarity and national development.

SAAB played a pivotal role in drafting the protocol between Bangladesh and the Soviet Union regarding the equivalence of soviet degrees. This protocol, concerning educational standards in both countries, was signed in Dhaka on June 14, 1987. Mention may be made of at least two successful scientific conferences organized by SAAB in 2008 – one on 'Health Sciences' and the other on 'Engineering'. The latter one was graced by late National Professor Dr. Jamilur Reza Chowdhury, while the former was adorned by the National Professor Dr. Nurul Islam. Two international conferences have been organized by SAAB in 2017 and 2019 where attended Vipuskniki from different countries of the world.

SAAB was never blind to its social responsibility. It was demonstrated time and again, especially during the devastating ood in 1998 and 2024 when SAAB donated to the Prime Minister's Relief Fund, organized relief distribution and Health camps in affected areas. This had been our legacy. Since 1978, Vipuskniki returning from the Soviet Union and Russia have, for the most part, had to face adversity. Although circumstances were favorable at times during this period, we failed to capitalize on them. This reflects a failure of SAAB leadership.

If the successful professional standing and capabilities of vipuskniks are harnessed through a planned and collective effort, we will certainly be able to make more significant contributions and establish a more impactful position within Bangladesh's national life, as well as in the social and professional spheres. SAAB executive committee must take effective and necessary initiatives to address this. Those currently in leadership and positions of responsibility - as well as those who will assume these roles in the future - must discharge their duties with this matter in mind.

Vipusknik friends have extended their cooperation to any initiative undertaken by the SAAB in the past, and they remain ready to provide all forms of support in the future as well. All that is needed is a plan and an effective initiative.

We honour our founders, former leaders, senior alumni and every member whose dedication has strengthened SAAB. We remember with respect those alumni who are no longer with us, while celebrating the achievements of those who continue to serve society. We must preserve our heritage while embracing new knowledge, technology and opportunities. We must strength our alumni network, encourage young graduates, support education and research, expand humanitarian initiatives and further develop Bangladesh-Russia educational and cultural cooperation.

May the Soviet Alumni Association of Bangladesh continue to unite generations of alumni, inspire excellence, serve humanity and contribute to a prosperous Bangladesh.
